

Management Consulting Firm Pegasus Global Holdings, Inc. Names New CEO

CLE ELUM, WASHINGTON, February 5, 2018 -- On February 1, Pegasus Global Holdings, Inc.'s (Pegasus-Global) board of directors announced the appointment of William Riggins as the firm's new president and CEO. Also effective February 1, Dr. Patricia D. Galloway, who previously served as president and CEO, will become chairman of the board. Pegasus-Global provides management consulting services to major construction projects in the global energy and infrastructure sectors.

"Bill is well-equipped to take the reins of Pegasus-Global at a time of enormous opportunities and challenges for the clients we serve," said Galloway. "His expertise with energy projects and regulatory support in particular is in demand more than ever. I look forward to working with him in our new roles."

Riggins joined the company in 2012 and most recently was an executive consultant. His career spans more than three decades in the energy industry, including electric utility planning, construction and operation, ratemaking principles and concepts, and environmental regulation. His experience includes a wide variety of legal issues related to power plants of all technologies and fuel sources. He also served as general counsel for Great Plains Energy/Kansas City Power & Light as well as Kansas Electric Power Cooperative.

In the past few years, Riggins has focused on corporate governance, risk management, and facilitating the flow of relevant information from the construction site to the executive floor and the boardroom. His recent engagements include serving on the independent monitor team of Public Service Electric & Gas's $1 billion Energy Strong Program, which includes storm hardening and resiliency projects.

Riggins holds a BS in journalism and a JD with an energy law emphasis from the University of Kansas and an MBA from the University of Missouri-Kansas City. His many professional activities include serving on the Edison Electric Institute's Legal Committee.

"I'm delighted to assume this new leadership position at Pegasus-Global," said Riggins. "Dr. Galloway has led the firm, founded by the late Dr. Kris R. Nielsen, to become one of the most respected consultants in the megaproject space. I look forward to serving both current and future clients as they execute increasingly complex projects."
